Bio: Dr. Nabi's research focuses on the development of novel causal methodologies to address these pressing challenges. Dr. Nabi's research draws on methodological insights from both machine learning/artificial intelligence, especially using graphical models, and statistical theory, especially semiparametric statistics. Dr. Nabi's applications of interest include healthcare, social justice, and public policy.