

Short Bio: Dr. Diego Mazzotti is an Assistant Professor in the Division of Medical Informatics, Department of Internal Medicine at the University of Kansas Medical Center. Dr. Mazzotti received his Ph.D. in Psychobiology at the Federal University of São Paulo, Brazil and a Certificate in Biomedical Informatics from the University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine. During his doctoral work, he contributed to the characterization of several physiological and molecular aspects of sleep in healthy aging. Since then, Dr. Mazzotti committed his career to fill the gap between basic and clinical sciences through translational and clinical research informatics. His areas of expertise encompass Sleep Medicine and Circadian Biology, Health Informatics, Bioinformatics and Genetics.